Editor and reviewer comments:

Reviewer:

- 1. Clarity of Research Objectives: The research objectives in the abstract are clear, focusing on assessing the effectiveness of the Number Head Together (NHT) strategy in improving students' English achievement. However, it would be beneficial to explicitly state the specific aspects of English achievement being measured (e.g., speaking, writing, comprehension).
- 2. Detailed Methodology Description: The methodology needs more elaboration. Provide more details on the design of the classroom action research, such as the duration, frequency, and specific activities involved in implementing the NHT strategy. Additionally, include information about the sample size and characteristics for a more comprehensive understanding.
- 3. Explanation of Instruments: Clarify the structure and content of the English tests and the observation sheet. This will enhance the transparency of the study and help readers understand how the data were collected and evaluated.
- 4. Statistical Analysis: The abstract mentions data analysis, but it lacks information on the statistical methods used. Specify the statistical tests applied to draw conclusions about the effectiveness of the NHT strategy, adding a layer of methodological rigor to the study.
- 5. Cohesiveness in Presentation: Ensure a smooth flow of information between sentences and paragraphs. The abstract should read as a cohesive narrative, guiding the reader through the rationale, methods, results, and implications of the study seamlessly.
- 6. Impact of NHT Strategy: Provide insights into why the NHT strategy is believed to be effective in improving English achievement. This could involve a brief literature review or discussion of how the strategy aligns with language learning theories.
- 7. Discussion of Limitations: Address potential limitations of the study. For example, discuss any challenges faced during the implementation of the NHT strategy or any external factors that might have influenced the results.

8. Implications for Teaching: Expand on the implications for English teaching. How can other educators implement the NHT strategy based on the study's findings? This information would be valuable for practitioners seeking to enhance their teaching methods.
9. Suggestions for Future Research: Conclude the abstract with recommendations for future research. This could involve exploring variations of the NHT strategy, assessing its effectiveness across different English proficiency levels, or comparing it with other teaching methodologies.
10. Keywords Precision: Ensure the keywords accurately reflect the content of the study. Consider adding specific keywords related to the components of English achievement measured in the research (e.g., speaking, writing, listening). This will enhance the discoverability of the article in academic databases.

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible and send the revised article again via this email.
