Dear
Editor Indian Journal of Public Health Research & Development (IJPHRD)

We have read and used scientific articles published in IJPHRD.
The performance of the IJPHRD was excellent, and the published article helped us conduct research and write scientific reports.

I am Sasmoko, representing other authors from Bina Nusantara University, Indonesia.
We have completed a scientific article entitled "Analysis of Nursing Quality Services."

We hope this article can be published in the IJPHRD because exciting findings in the scientific report can become new treasures in science, especially in management sciences.
We are willing to go through the review process following IJPHRD standards.

Best Regards,

Sasmoko

Dear

Sasmoko, et al.
Bina Nusantara University, Indonesia

Thank you for submitting the manuscript to IJPHRD.

We have completed our evaluation, and the reviewers recommend reconsidering the manuscript following minor revisions. Please resubmit the revised manuscript by July 25th, 2019, or ask whether an alternate date would be acceptable. We invite you to send it back after addressing the comments below.

When revising the manuscript, consider carefully all issues mentioned in the reviewers' comments: outline every change made in response to their comments and provide suitable explanations for any remarks not addressed. Please also note that the revised submission may need to be reviewed.

To submit a revised manuscript, please log in as an author at this email, and navigate to the "Revision" folder. IJPHRD values team contribution, and I look forward to receiving the revised manuscript.

Editor and reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1:

1. The abstract provides a general overview, but it would be more effective with precise information on the methodology and key findings. Specify the number of respondents, highlight the key statistical measures used, and briefly summarize the most significant results to give readers a clearer understanding of the study.
2. While the abstract mentions statistical significance ($\alpha < 0.05$), it lacks specific statistical measures and p-values for each of the identified effects. To enhance the credibility of the findings, include detailed statistical information in the results section, providing a comprehensive understanding of the study's outcomes.
3. The methodology section needs more details, such as the rationale behind choosing cluster random sampling and the specific steps taken in the survey. Additionally, elaborate on how the Likert-scale questionnaire was designed, validated, and administered. A thorough explanation will help readers assess the study's validity and reliability.
4. The article would benefit from a more extensive integration of relevant literature to contextualize the study. Incorporate existing theories and findings related to nursing service quality to provide a stronger foundation for the research. This will demonstrate a comprehensive understanding of the field and highlight the novelty or significance of your study.
5. The discussion section should not only restate the results but also discuss their practical implications. How can the identified factors be practically applied to enhance nursing service quality? Consider providing recommendations for hospitals based on your findings, demonstrating the real-world relevance of the research.

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible and send the revised article again via this email.

Dear

Sasmoko, et al.
Bina Nusantara University, Indonesia

Thank you for the team's efforts to make improvements to the article.
Based on the reviewers' considerations, the article has, at some point, increased.
However, the team has to improve on a few more points. Hopefully team are willing to do it.

Please follow the following revision instructions:

#Reviewer 2:

1. While the abstract mentions direct significant effects of the nurses' ability, hospital ethics, and leadership behavior on nurse commitment, it would be valuable to delve deeper into the nature of these effects. Provide a nuanced discussion on the strength and direction of these relationships, supporting your claims with specific examples or scenarios.
2. Consider addressing the robustness of your findings. Discuss potential limitations and alternative explanations for the observed effects. This demonstrates a thorough understanding of the complexities within the studied relationships and adds depth to the interpretation of results.
3. Acknowledge and discuss external factors that might influence the variables under investigation. Factors such as socio-economic status, cultural differences, or variations in hospital policies could impact the observed effects. Addressing these potential influences will contribute to the study's comprehensiveness.
4. The abstract keywords (nursing, service, quality) are broad. Consider refining these keywords to more accurately reflect the specific focus of your study. This will aid in the article's discoverability and ensure that it reaches the intended audience with precision.
5. To enhance the reader's understanding, consider including visual aids such as charts or graphs in the results section. Graphical representations of key findings can provide a quick and clear overview, making it easier for readers to grasp complex statistical relationships.

Articles that have been revised and please send them back via this email.
