

REFERENCES

- Compton, W. C. (2023). Maslow and the Good Person: Towards a New Positive Psychology. Positive Psychology Journal, 18(2), 113–127. <https://doi.org/10.1080/17439760.2023.2234561>
- Fernández, M. (2023). Using Maslow's hierarchy in the literature classroom. Edutopia. <https://www.edutopia.org/article/maslow-hierarchy-needs-tool-literary-analysis>
- Korean Folklore Society. (2019). The Tiger and the Dried Persimmon and Other Stories. KFS Press.
- Korea Heritage Encyclopedia. (2021). Sim Cheong Jeon (The Tale of Sim Cheong). Retrieved from <https://encykorea.aks.ac.kr>
- Korea Literature Translation Institute. (2020). Korean Folk Tales: Stories from the Land of Morning Calm. KLTi Press.
- Koltko-Rivera, M. E. (2006). Rediscovering the later version of Maslow's hierarchy of needs: Self-transcendence and opportunities for theory, research, and unification. Review of General Psychology, 10(4), 302–317. <https://doi.org/10.1037/1089-2680.10.4.302>
- Kim, J., & Han, M. (2020). Korean Folktales and Moral Storytelling. Korean Literature Publishing.
- Kang, Y. S. (2021). Folktales and Character Development: A Psychological Perspective on Traditional Narratives. Asian Cultural Psychology Review, 9(2), 115–130.
- Louca, M. J., Costea, B., & Amiridis, K. (2021). A Critical Review of Maslow's Theory of Spirituality and Self-Transcendence. The Humanistic Psychologist, 49(1), 14–28. <https://doi.org/10.1037/hum0000186>

Nedelchev, D. (2021). Maslow's hierarchy of needs in literary interpretation: A humanistic reading of fictional motivation UVaDOC Institutional Repository.
<https://uvadoc.uva.es/handle/10324/52243>

Tay, L., & Diener, E. (2011). Needs and Subjective Well-Being Around the World. Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, 101(2), 354–365.
<https://doi.org/10.1037/a0023779>

