Dear
Editor Journal Psychology and Education (PSYED)

We have read and used scientific articles published in PSYED.
The performance of the PSYED was excellent, and the published article helped us conduct research and write scientific reports.

I am Bernadetha Nadeak, representing other authors from Universitas Kristen Indonesia, Jakarta. Indonesia.
We have completed a scientific article entitled "The Integration of Lecturers' Professionalism and Intelligence with Environment Insight."

We hope this article can be published in the PSYED because exciting findings in the scientific report can become new treasures in science, especially in education sciences.
We are willing to go through the review process following PSYED standards.

Best Regards,

Bernadetha Nadeak

Dear

Bernadetha Nadeak, et al.
Universitas Kristen Indonesia, Jakarta. Indonesia

Thank you for submitting the manuscript to PSYED.

We have completed our evaluation, and the reviewers recommend reconsidering the manuscript following minor revisions. Please resubmit the revised manuscript by October 26th, 2020, or ask whether an alternate date would be acceptable. We invite you to send it back after addressing the comments below.

When revising the manuscript, consider carefully all issues mentioned in the reviewers' comments: outline every change made in response to their comments and provide suitable explanations for any remarks not addressed. Please also note that the revised submission may need to be reviewed.

To submit a revised manuscript, please log in as an author at this email, and navigate to the "Revision" folder. PSYED values team contribution, and I look forward to receiving the revised manuscript.

Editor and reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1:

1. The abstract provides an overview of the study's goals and findings. However, it could benefit from more specific details about the research methodology, such as the data collection and analysis techniques employed. This would enhance the reader's understanding of the study's rigor and the exact nature of the relationships discovered.
2. The abstract mentions the use of a random sample of 96 lecturers out of 335. It would be helpful to elaborate on the criteria for selecting this sample and whether it accurately represents the larger population of lecturers at the Christian University of Indonesia. A discussion of potential biases or limitations in the sampling process would strengthen the study's validity.
3. The abstract suggests positive relationships between professionalism, intelligence, and environmental insight but does not address the direction of these relationships. It would be beneficial to discuss whether high professionalism and intelligence cause an increase in environmental insight or vice versa. This clarification would provide a deeper insight into the study's implications.
4. The abstract mentions positive relationships, but it lacks information about the statistical analysis used and the significance levels of these relationships. Including statistical measures like correlation coefficients and p-values would offer a more precise understanding of the findings and the strength of these relationships.
5. The abstract concludes that higher professionalism and intelligence lead to greater environmental insight. However, it could be improved by discussing the practical implications of these findings. How might these results benefit the university or inform the development of lecturer training programs? Providing some context and practical implications would make the study more relevant to the academic community.

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible and send the revised article again via this email.

Dear

Bernadetha Nadeak, et al.
Universitas Kristen Indonesia, Jakarta. Indonesia

Thank you for the team's efforts to make improvements to the article.
Based on the reviewers' considerations, the article has, at some point, increased.
However, the team has to improve on a few more points. Hopefully team are willing to do it.

Please follow the following revision instructions:

#Reviewer 2:

1. The abstract mentions professionalism, intelligence, and environmental insight as key variables, but it lacks a precise definition of these terms. It's crucial to provide clear operational definitions for these variables to ensure that readers and other researchers can understand and replicate the study. Define what constitutes professionalism, intelligence, and environmental insight in the context of this research.
2. The abstract doesn't provide information about the specific data collection methods and instruments used to assess professionalism, intelligence, and environmental insight. To enhance transparency and enable others to replicate the study, it's essential to include details about the survey or assessment tools used and their validity and reliability.
3. The abstract mentions that the research was conducted at the Christian University of Indonesia, but it doesn't provide any context regarding the university or the educational environment. Including a brief background about the university and the education system in Indonesia can help readers understand the setting in which the study took place.
4. It's important to address the generalizability of the findings. The abstract could discuss the extent to which these results can be applied to other universities or educational contexts. Exploring the potential limitations or constraints on generalizability will help readers assess the broader implications of the study.
5. The abstract concludes by summarizing the positive relationships between professionalism, intelligence, and environmental insight. To add depth to the article, consider including suggestions for future research. What unanswered questions or areas of further study have emerged from these findings? This will encourage scholarly discourse and contribute to the academic field.

Articles that have been revised and please send them back via this email.
